Revised Manual of Corporate Governance: Article 3.H. Internal Control Responsibilities of the Board

	Executive	Non-Executive	Independent Director
Role	The role of the Executive Director is to design, develop and implement strategic plans for their organization in a cost-effective and time-efficient manner.	The role of a non-executive director is to provide the Board of Directors objective criticism and advice in the matters of its activities. They provide an objective judgment to bear on issues of strategy, performance and resources including key appointments and standards of conduct. Non-executive directors provide general guidance and	The Company defines an independent director as a person other than an officer or employee of the corporation, its parent or subsidiaries, or any other individual having a relationship with the corporation, which would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director. Independent directors protect the interests of all shareholders

		a different perspective on matters of concern.	and ensure that any fraudulent and incompetent actions by the Management do not go unnoticed. Independent directors are expected to be independent from the Management and act as the trustees of shareholders. They are obligated to be fully aware of and question the conduct of organization on relevant issues.
Accountabilities	Accountabilities, Deliverables and Functions of the Executive Director The Executive Director is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the organization, including managing committees and staff and developing business plans in collaboration with the Board for the future of the organization.	Accountabilities, Deliverables and Functions of the Non-Executive Director Non-executive directors are expected to focus on board matters and not be involved in executive directions or operations of the company.	Accountabilities, Deliverables and Functions of an Independent Director Independent Directors safeguard the interests of all shareholders. They also review the Management's performance and make sure that financial information provided to shareholders is accurate and complete.
Deliverables	The Executive Director is accountable to the Chairman of the Board and reports to the board on a regular basis - quarterly, semiannually, or annually. The Executive Director leads the organization and develops its organizational culture.	In so doing, they should provide an objective view of the company, distinct from its day-to-day operations.	They also ensure that an effective risk management system is in place. Independent directors therefore are appointed to bring to the Board: (a) independence (b) impartiality (c) wide experience (d) specialist knowledge.

Provide the company's definition of "independence" and describe the company's compliance to the definition.

As defined in the Revised Manual of Corporate Governance, independence is being free of any business or other relationship which could, or could reasonably be perceived to; materially interfere with the exercise of one's judgment in carrying out his responsibilities.

The Company complies with this definition by ensuring that the Board of Directors is composed of at least two (2) independent directors: (1) Mr. Cesar E.A. Virata; and (2) Mr. Peter Dee, as per SRC Rule 38 and SEC Memorandum Circular No. 6, Series of 2009, Revised Code of Corporate Governance.

Does the company have a term limit of five consecutive years for independent directors? If after two years, the company wishes to bring back an independent director who had served for five years, does it limit the term for no more than four additional years? Please explain.

In compliance with SEC Memorandum Circular No. 9, Series of 2011, the Company has implemented a term limit of five (5) consecutive years for independent directors.
